THE COPPER CORNER LIST #95

February-March-April 2019

“Something for Everyone”

18th Century “CONDER” TOKENS-----17TH Century tokens—19th Century tokens

Medals, medalets, unusual historical items----

A big hello to all, this last month has been computer Hexx-- as it managed to swallow my entire run of information pages for 2018, things one needs to file business taxes, and such. I have spent many days recreating it all, and have both a new respect for computers, and a dose of contempt for them as well. Anyway, it is basically back to normal, though I have not been able to get my e-mail program working, and am using my web mail-----but that means I can still get a list out and will do so, in fact, here it is.

There have been a number of auctions this last year, and more slated for 2019, the DNW auction for October is to be a super one, according to Peter Preston Morley.

But, a look at the 2018 auctions in the fall is very worthwhile.

There was an auction at Baldwin’s of St. James that contained more pieces from the Baldwin basement. There were a dozen or so rarities in the English series, and a few in the Anglesey series, all of them heavily sought. I did not bid in the sale, for two reasons, first, not much for me this time, and second, I did not receive a catalogue of the sale. They do need to get it straight just who needs which catalogues, I received around four of them for earlier sales that contained material I was not interested in---and the next one should have been tokens, but it did not hit my mailbox. Failing that, I looked for it on line, but it was not yet up, and I got busy and let it go at that, just not to be.

The DNW sale was the best one that has come along in some time. Held Tuesday, 4 December, the tokens formed the collection of the late Sven Gahlin. Mr. Gahlin bought, over many years, only really nice examples of the tokens he sought. He left a lot of secondary tokens on the table, waiting for a better one. Thus, condition over the entire collection was amazing, he did not “settle” for anything less than what he wished to have. I viewed the tokens on line, as I did not make it to the UK this last year, and found that I could depend, nearly always, on getting a super piece no matter what I bought.

Thus, I did bid in this sale, and gained 80 lots. Of course, I also bought other material as I went along, a couple collections came my way as well, but what it means for you is that this list contains everything from soup to nuts. For the high end collector, there are lots of choices and for the budget collector some very nice EF and AU pieces at reasonable prices.

I hope you enjoy this list—I do hope you got the notice in time about the timing for the list to be put up on my web site, it should have been in your inbox at least a week ago. Because of the lack of access to my e-mail system, it was sent by my friend Eric Holcomb who seems to be able to talk Computer very well-----when I cannot talk computer at all it seems.

As I write this, the nation is experiencing a deep freeze, one of which I have never seen the like. I sure hope you are not in the way of it or survive it well. It seems we are challenged with strange weather a good deal lately. My best to you all, Bill McKivor.

SLOUGH 27 1795 A Phoenix//Peckham's Arms. Full luster, nice UNC $235.

CAMBRIDGE

KING'S COLLEGE 7. 1796 Penny Token. Two, your choice of a thin flan with full strike, no marks, full luster----(hard to find the thin one with a full strike and completely centered)---16.36G, Ex Sven Gahlin, superb.$375. Another, also full strike, tad red, on a heavy 25.8g flan. Another choice UNC with full luster, $325.

BURLEIGH'S PENNY 9. 1799. Thomas Hobson on horseback//a water tower. Very minor edge tics, piece is RR, and the surfaces and strike are perfect. I have owned a few of these, most have some problems, this has nearly none. Very pretty, one that Sven Gahlin kept as the best he found. You can own it, $895.

COUNTY 19a Wheat Sheaf//David Hood, &c. Usual weak wheat sheaf, lots of red in the devices, nice luster—a weak strike on the center obverse, otherwise UNC $95.

STOCKTON 9 1794 Sir Bevois//Ship sailing. Original strike, around 3-4 known---Most of these are restrikes, or counterfeits-- at any rate poor examples, always with a garbled edge. This piece with a strong strike on a nice flan, tad red, ---the edge is a bit garbled, but the words "At Kings Stockton" very readable, this NOT on the counterfeits at all. SOUTHAMPTON 117 1789 ¼ d---George III visited Southampton. RARE, EF+ $175.

HEREFORD

These tokens, Hereford 1,2,3 and 4, comprise the entire penny section of the county. They have a bull breaking its chains on the obverse, and an apple tree on the reverse. #1 is bronzed and prooflike, and only a tad weak on tree, net GEF $275. The #2, scarce, is VF and $195.

The #3 is scarce, is GEF with a bit of weakness on the tree on the reverse, and is $355.

This piece with 50% original flash, no peeing, the toning is not even dark, very close to being called UNC, and I think it is. The copper versions are into four figures, this nearly that but you can buy this superb White Metal version of the token in super condition and great eye appeal for $775.

COVENTRY 38a St. Michael's Church//View of the Chancel. Comments: The last two of these I have owned have been very special, this one the latest and amazing. Bronzed, great color and luster, no marks, simply a GEM, and on a large piece such as this is, that is hard to find. As you might expect, it is ex Gahlin, and is perhaps the best one I have ever seen for quality, color, and strike—though the last one was that as well. Most of them have minor defects at the least, this one does not have one I can find. Also, Being bronzed, which most are not, makes it special. It is not possible to upgrade, yours for $950, and worth it.

 W1200 1811 Weybridge Mill. ( View of the Mill)// Value, id. Lustrous UNC $245.
 W1685 1814 Penny token, A monogram on the obverse, Ship on the reverse. Thought to be struck by Halliday, as a token for Canada, but it somehow did not work out, leaving this token to be an extreme rarity RR+. A GVF. My only one ever $350.
 W-unlisted 1814 A Walworth Farthing, found in the Davis book as #8, and listed as RARE to RRR, James Bean, Walworth road, Surrey. Tobacco &c. R&B, AU rarity, $175.
 W-Appendix #1, addenda #2. Morston, Suffolk, William Buck. 1817. He owned the "anchor" pub and a ship. Token obv (Pint), Reverse a ship. Token is UNC, super $355.

CORNWALL—TRURO CATHEDRAL----TWO 45mm copper medals, each with a view of Truro Cathedral---The first reverse with information, Prince of Wales laying the Foundation stone, 1880, and Consecration in 1887-----The second medal with the bust of John Gott, the Bishop of Truro, 1891. Both medals by H Venn, in original cases with his sticker inside the lids. Medals and cases as new, one lid not latching though----Sold as a pair, $325.

JOHN HAMPDEN----A leading parliamentarian politician of his day who challenged the authority of King Charles I. He stood trial in 1637 for his refusal to pay the ship money tax. When BHM was written, they noted that the only specimen of this medal was in the Ashmolean Museum. Since that writing, two or three more have been reported but needless to say it is not a medal you will easily find. Dalton and Hamer list a token with the tomb of Hampden on the reverse, Middlesex 1040, with no comment as to why he was important. Anyway, here is the medal, in bronzed copper, 54mm--- Bust Hampden, his birth and death dates on the obverse, reverse with a wreath, no legends. This example was in the Baldwin vaults, and we know of one or two others supposedly seen---but your chance here to get a real rarity. The medal is as new, no disappointments, $385.

QUEEN MARY----In this case, the ship, at launch in 1936, a bronze 70mm medal. The obverse with the ship in view, the reverse with shields, one with a rampant lion holding the world in his paws, and a window with a view of the New York Harbor, to which she sailed on her maiden voyage. The medal is new. It I in the original case, which is also like new, in a box as well also new. Finest example seen. Yours, $450.

JAMES WATT---A 55mm bronzed medal, bronzed finish, with the bust of Chantrey on the obverse. He was a sculpturist, who did a monument to Watt, with Watt sitting on a plinth studying. This sculpture of Watt is quite famous, the medal made to honor Chantry is deserved, and his Watt work wonderful. Struck by Wyon, the medal is like new, and has been in my collection for years. Just $125.

LAWN BOWLING IN SCOTLAND---A silver prize medal, 1874. The center engraved to show a player about to bowl, the reverse is blank. In an ornate thistle border, with a loop and a ring, it is, as described, 66x22 mm, Glasgow hallmarks. A delightful image, each of these is unique for one participant to win, GVF, to UNC $240.

SATIRICAL MEDAL---Licentious Liberty is destruction, the obverse of this 49mm White Metal medal has a man with no head standing, his head below, and the devil at his side, considered a “French Aristocrat” in thought----The reverse with a scene of a British family having a nice evening at home, the children absorbed in play, the woman at the spinning wheel, the man having a drink---the legend around “The Land we Live in and may those who don’t like it leave it”---from 1795, during the French revolution with worry that it might spread to England. The medal is bright, some toning, thus GEF. Certainly a good look at the thinking of the time, and the medal in far nicer shape than usually seen $445.

DUKE OF BEDFORD CHARTER----800th anniversary medals, 51mm, one in silver, the other gilt bronze. The charter given by Henry II in 1166, the medals thus struck in 1966. Bedford’s charter included Russell Square and more. Medals as struck, $115 pair.

The medal is dated 1908, but no reason why he is doing this or if the walk was completed is said. EF or so, nice and bright. $110.
- British Bank token-----George III//1 shilling, sixpence. Luster, UNC 1916. $175
